SENECA IN HIGH FAVOR

SPEEDY OLD SPRINTER WAS MEANT BY NATURE TO BE A HIGH-CLASS RACER.

Owner Preece in Poor Luck at Juarez so Far—Old Rosebud's Prospect of Racing Again Viewed Hopefully.

Juarez, Mex., January 9.—Once more Seneca is a star performer at the Jockey Club Juarez track. In a recent race he showed all the speed of his best young days by winning in runaway style and pulling up at five and a half furlongs in 1:05 1/2. This was his tenth winning race in 1915 and he has proved a jewel of a breadwinner to his owner, the California turfman, Joseph Tigue. Seneca has now to his credit a record of thirty-eight wins and in thirty-one other of his starts he has finished second and ran third seventeen times. He has up to his winning race of last December 15 earned a total of $13,154.

This son of Disguise II. did not race until a three-year-old. As a yearling he was shipped to England by his breeder, the late James R. Keene, but was taken sick there and turned a roarer. He was said to have been one of the most highly tried yearlings ever sent to England by that turfman. Trainer James Rowe in 1915 and he has since that time been one of the most promising youngsters he ever had in his care.

He gets his black color from his grandsire, the mighty Domino, and when running at full speed shows the same greyhound stride as that famous horse. Seneca's dam, Swiftfoot, is a half-sister to Hamburg and, as their dam, Lady Keel, is that of Mamie Gray. Seneca is strongly inbred to the Gallopado family.

C. Buxton, who has the call on the services of the apprentice rider T. Hayes, is much pleased with the lad's work so far and thinks he is the making of a crack jockey in time. Hayes rode his first winner at Juarez when he piloted Scallywag to victory in a mile race and this year will no doubt get many mounts here. Hayes rode his first winner in Canada last summer and, as a consequence, his apprenticeship has about six months yet to run. He is a son of the well-known trainer M. Hayes and his father has never signed a contract with anyone for the lad's services. The promising young jockey was born at Oakland, Cal., and can ride as light as ninety-two pounds. Buxton, the owner and trainer who has Hayes in charge, is a brother to the skillful jockey M. Buxton, and he expects the latter to come here and ride early during the present month.

While the New York trainer Godfrey Preece has met with no luck here as yet with his older horses, it is more than likely this stable will cut some figure in two-year-old races before this month is much older. There is some good material in the kindergarten line in his care. The youngsters in this stable are mostly exceedingly well developed and are by such well-known sires as Stalwart, Waterbury, Nasuturium, Dr. Boots, Dr. Leggo, Banckburn, Cyclades, Magneto and Knight of the Thistle, the latter being the sire of Worth, the Kentucky Derby winner of 1912.

That the increase in value of stakes and purses has made it possible for an American racehorse to win as much as $100,000 in his native country, is illustrated by the score so far to the credit of Roamer, which in three seasons has earned a total of $52,905. This son of Knight Errant is the principal winning horse of recent years and if he keeps his form may yet work his way in to the charmed circle of racers which, by their superior turf earnings, will always have a shining place in turf annals.

Had Old Rosebud been able to meet all his engagements as Roamer did as a three and four-year-old, probably he would now be closer to the list of $100,000 turf winners than is Roamer at the present time. In his two-year-old career, in three starts since he has earned a total of $28,632. This mighty son of Uncle, by some considered the greatest of all Kentucky Derby winners, is now doing well and there are now probabilities of him adding considerably to his present creditable turf earnings before the campaign of 1916 comes to a close. He will, it is now hoped, by the time he reaches Kentucky next spring, be ready to meet all comers.

Another that may race for the big stakes in Kentucky next spring is the unbeaten Regret, which, in five winning races, has earned a total of $29,890. The table below gives the winnings each year of the noted time racers which have demonstrated that horses of today can in few races score creditable turf earnings, as all told the combined starts of this trio only totals sixty-eight races:

Name.	1913.	1914.	1915.	Total.
Roamer	$ 8,480	$29,105	$15,320	$52,905
Regret	17,390	12,500	20,890	50,780
Old Rosebud	19,057	9,735	28,632	57,424

Roamer has raced in forty-six races, winning twenty-four, finishing second in eight, third in three and unplaced eleven times. As is well known, Regret has won all of her five starts, while Old Rosebud has started seventeen times, winning fourteen, finishing second twice and unplaced once.

RODY PATTERSON'S PROMISING STABLE.

Lexington, Ky., January 9.—The purchase of Ellen M. from O. H. Cheneault gives Rody Patterson five horses in the string he is training at the Kentucky Association track. His best unquestionably is the two-year-old bay colt by Ballot—Subdue (dam of G. M. Miller), which is the property of Harry Brown of Lexington. He has a promising two-year-old colt of his own in a bay son of Hastings and Artemesia. The two-year-old bay filly by Transvaal—Lady Levity, owned jointly by Patterson and Charlton Alexander of Paris, this stable, has a wonderfully good disposition and has been named Pollyanna. The fifth member of the string is Louisiana, a three-year-old bay filly by Ferole—Chione, the property of R. N. Smith, of Eminence.

W. J. Young said today that he will have eighteen horses in his string this year. He will take up Bulse within the next few days. Asked if it is true that this splendid son of Disguise broke a tendon last year, Young replied in the negative. "He is all right," said he, "and so is Leo Ray. That horse did have a bad tendon when I stopped him from racing last year, but he is as sound as gold today."

T. P. Hayes says he does not expect to race more than eight horses this year, unless he should make some additions to his string not now in contemplation.

Peter Wimmer probably will train several horses for John E. Madden beginning February 1.

CURRENT NOTES OF THE TURF.

Serf Savin, in the stable of H. S. Newman, is described as one of the most impressive looking thoroughbreds quartered at the New Orleans Fair Grounds. He has been doing service in the stud and has four promising yearlings at the Newman farm at Sweetwater, Texas.

Dr. S. P. Tate and H. T. Griffin, stewards of the Golden Gate Breeders' Association, have reinstated the mare Miss Clark, that was suspended at the recent San Francisco meeting. The action was taken against Miss Clark because her owner, William McClinton, refused to turn over one of his horses which was claimed out of a race. An affidavit was submitted by J. Carson Anteklin setting forth that he had purchased the mare and is the sole owner. Anteklin has the horse at Tia Juana and will race her there.

AMERICAN RACING STATISTICS FOR THE YEAR 1915

While the contrary was expected, the summing up of the money output of the meetings, big and little, of the American racing campaign of 1915 shows a falling off of $141,488 from the gross return of 1914. However, the fact that 395 fewer races were run in 1915 than in 1914 would alone suffice to account for this difference. Ever since 1911 American racing has been on the upgrade and if there seems a temporary halt in advancement in the returns of 1915, it is more in appearance than in reality. The American turf was never in a healthier general condition than in 1915, nor were its affairs ever more conservatively and prudently directed by those in charge. If in 1915 the general range of the sport ran along in about the same groove as the year before, it was likewise marking time while measures having in view the further advancement of the great sport were under consideration. The effect will be seen in 1916, when the end of the year will probably disclose a total output of over $3,000,000 for the first time since 1909. It will be a long time, if ever, before anything like the figures of 1906 and 1907 will be attained again. But for something smaller and a general increase the present outlook is altogether one of hopefulness.

The total output in stakes and purses by the recognized tracks of North America in 1915 was $2,853,037. A complete exposition of the annual returns from racing since 1906 makes the following interesting showing:

Year.	Distribution.	Racing Days.	No. of Races.	Year.	Distribution.	Racing Days.	No. of Races.
1915	$2,853,037	839	5,454	1910	2,942,333	1,063	6,504
1914	2,994,525	906	5,849	1909	$3,146,695	724	4,510
1913	2,920,963	909	6,136	1908	4,351,691	921	5,639
1912	2,391,625	926	5,806	1907	5,375,534	1,004	6,252
1911	2,367,957	1,037	6,280	1906	5,420,381	1,096	6,840

Under the protection of a newly enacted law Reno came into the racing field and, when its small population is considered, held a remarkably successful meeting, which is to be an annual fixture. A well attended meeting pleased thousands at San Francisco, but it was given in connection with the Panama Exposition and is not likely to be repeated: Under the auspices of the Business Men's Racing Association of New Orleans forty days of racing took place over the Fair Grounds track with such entire success and such generous patronage that this great southern city seems to be permanently restored to the racing map. A meeting at Havana met such favor as to lead to the construction of one of the most complete and beautiful winter racing. At New York the main feature of the year was the return to active racing of the Metropolitan Jockey Club, and its meeting at Jamaica was attended with such results as to insure its continuance annually. In Maryland the Bowie track adopted the pari-mutuel betting method and gave a fall meeting that was on a par with those at Pimlico and Laurel.

The patronage awarded the tracks of the United States and Canada in 1915 was quite remarkable and the racing organizations of both countries, with the exception of Dorval, made money over and above the expenses of their meetings. The Jockey Club Juarez did not, as usual, distribute more money among winning owners than any other racing organization, it having been displaced from its primacy in that regard by Latonia, which in its two meetings gave owners a total of $234,260, which eclipsed the Juarez total of $228,420. Belmont Park was third in this generous competition and Saratoga fourth. By tracks the total product of the year, with other interesting particulars, are as given in the following tabulation:

Track and Date.	Number of Days.	Number of Races.	Winning Owners.	Winning Horses.	Winning 1st Choices.	Winning 2nd Choices.	Winning Outsiders.	Winning at Odds-on.	Defeated at Odds-on.	P.C. of Wins.

HAVANA FAVORITES PROVE DELUDERS.

Havana, Cuba, January 9.—Showers fell here today but the Oriental Park track remained fast. Favorites fared poorly for a change. It was not until the feature race of the day, a handicap at one mile and a sixteenth, that anything bearing resemblance to a favorite succeeded in scoring. Then Brave Commander, which enjoyed equal favoritism with Conflagration, carried the Bedwell colors to an easy victory, with Stonehenge and Dinah Do in closest attendance. Conflagration was sadly deficient in speed and the finish found him last.

Charles Francis was held in greatest esteem for the opening dash, but lost all chance by propping as the barrier went up. He closed a big gap and barely failed to run to a place. The purse went to Saturnus, the second choice.

B. First was thought to have the second race at her mercy, but Sureget took her measure by a neck. The third race also saw the favorite second at the finish, Ischgabibbe nosing Quick out in the last stride.

Leftetti, backed into odds-on favoritism for the fourth, could do no better than finish third, Cossack repeating his winning performance of a few days ago.

The closing race yielded up the longest-priced winner of the day in Flying Feet.

P. Shannon, a recent arrival from New York, was among the layers.

The stewards issued a ruling which denied the privileges of the course for the remainder of the meeting to M. Burns for questionable practices in connection with some of the selling races.

G. M. Gray, trainer of Shaban, was fined $20 for failing to warm up Shaban and the owners of Stonehenge and Dinah Do were fined $10 each for being late with their horses in the paddock.

Sureget, winner of the second race, was bid up $105 by G. M. Gray, but was bought in.

JAMES BUTLER'S NEW TRAINER AND RIDER.

New York, January 9.—John McCormack will train the James Butler horses this year. Mr. Butler sent him a one-year contract to New Orleans for signature and the terms have been accepted. Mr. McCormack will take charge of about thirty of the Butler horses on February 1, when they will be shipped from Eastview Farm to the Empire City track to be prepared for this year's campaign.

Richard C. Benson, who formerly trained the Butler string, has taken a trip west for the benefit of his health.

Mr. Butler went into winter quarters in 1914 with what appeared to be a formidable string of coming three-year-olds, including Pebbles, Last Coin, Kilkeny Boy, High Noon, Comely and others. They did not race up to their promise last year and the season turned out what is generally referred to as an "off year" for the Butler stable.

McCormack, who is now training for Emil Herz, will begin with a string of good horses ranging chiefly from two to four-year-olds, all of which Mr. Butler says are wintering well.

Russell McDermott will do the riding for the stable, his contract having been purchased from A. R. Bresler. He will report to the stable early in March.

Mr. Butler will start on his annual winter trip next month, during which he will visit Palm Beach, New Orleans, Havana, Juarez and probably Tia Juana. He will be accompanied by his family and a few friends.

MILES WILL NOT RETURN TO AUSTRIA.

New York, January 9.—Mickey Miles, who rode successfully in Austria for Louis Egidie for several years, has received a flattering offer from his employer to return to that country for the coming season. He has also been commissioned to find a good American lightweight for the stable. Both Mr. and Mrs. Egidie recently wrote urging the return of the American rider, and the tone of the letters makes it appear that the war has not dampened the ardor of the sportsmen. While the relations of Miles and his Austrian employer were most pleasant, he has decided that he will quit the saddle and this season, in partnership with Bernard Flynn, will campaign a small string over the tracks of the Jockey Club. Just now the partnership is in two horses, Engelbert, an imported three-year-old brought over by A. J. Joyner, and Masque, a three-year-old daughter of Disguise and Chanery. Engelbert is a son of Catus and Orta and was a winner in England. The horses are at Gravesend in the care of Maurice Welsh, and the purchase of others is anticipated. Incidentally the same racing firm has made an entry for the Futurity of 1918, the nomination being the produce of Harlem Lass.

TIMELY GOSSIP FROM BLUE-GRASS LAND.

Lexington, Ky., January 9.—Starter Harry Morrissey, writing from San Diego to a friend in this city concerning the opening of the race meeting at Tia Juana, where he is presiding at the barrier, says:

"The opening was a big success. The attendance numbered 4,500, of which 3,600 were paid admissions. The governor and his staff were present. He sure is with this plant and will do all he can for it. He posed in the judges' stand for the moving picture people and paraded from the front entrance to his box with his staff and military band (also for the movies). That evening the governor and his staff were entertained at a banquet at one of the hotels. It was a great affair."

"There were nine books on for the opening day, two of them field books. The Sunday crowd was larger than on the opening day and I was told that more money was handled. As to the horses and riders, they are a mediocre lot and will stand much improvement. Both horses and riders are scarce. The management has announced a raise in the purses from $300 to $350, and a raise of $100 additional on the handicaps, so you see it looks like it is a sure go. The train service from San Diego to the track is good. The station is about one-sixteenth of a mile from the stand. Hundreds of automobiles were parked on the premises both days, judging from what we have seen and heard thus far. I have no hesitation in saying that Tia Juana is going to be a great racing point."

Barney Schreiber, who spent three or four days at his Horse Haven Farm here last week, is also of the opinion that Tia Juana will make good. "It is not to be expected that the management will make any money there this year," said he, "but from what I saw of the plant and from the conversations I had with the people in California and Lower California concerning the organization and its plans, I am satisfied that next year will see the racing in full swing and I have no doubt that it will be successful from then on. The scarcity of horses there is one big handicap to the operators this season. It looks to me as if any sort of a mut horse could win races there." Schreiber left here Thursday night for New Orleans with the intention of making a book for the remainder of the season.

Jack Weaver has taken up six runners at the Kentucky Association track, and he is in high spirits over his prospects for a successful season with them. In addition to the three-year-old gelding Thornwood, a winner last year, he has five two-year-olds. One is an outstanding black colt, which has been named Woodthorn. He is a brother to Thornwood by Patriot—Mary Sayre. Weaver considers him an excellent prospect, but he also has great regard for Lucy C., a chestnut filly by Transvaal—Sento (dam of Jolly). He says she is a high-class filly and that it would take a long price to get her from him. He named the bay filly by Transvaal—Kula, Elizabeth Thompson. The other two are colts by Transvaal—the bay he calls Jack Wiggins and the black is Woody. He is out of Sue II., and she is the dam of ten winners. Weaver is evidently much impressed with the Transvaals, for he has about decided to mate his splendid mare Gowell with the son of Commanchee named Rose. Should he change his mind, Arthur B. Hancock's recently imported Wrack will be his selection. Gowell is now at Kinney Nichols' farm in Bourbon County.

MUCH EXPECTED OF COLIN'S COLT.

New York, January 9.—Trainer D. R. (Puddin') McDaniel is delighted with the recent importations which have been added to the Brownleigh Park Stable. Grant Hugh Browne's racing establishment, The Brownleigh Park Stable, is owned jointly by Grant Hugh Browne and H. H. Selby, who recently returned from Europe after having made some important purchases of thoroughbreds. Twenty of these recent importations, including the broodmares and nearly all of the two-year-olds, were shipped to the Browne farm at Goshen, N. Y., while seven, intended for the Selby campaign of 1916, have been sent to Gravesend to reinforce the string there in charge of trainer McDaniel.

Far and away the star of this string is the two-year-old chestnut colt by Colin—Acalot, originally purchased in England by Thomas Welsh and sold by him to H. H. Selby for importation to this country. It is many years since a horse has made such an impression into the United States with such a reputation preceding him as this colt. When Thomas Welsh came back to this country during the Saratoga meeting he was at least aware of the existence of the colt and knew that he was regarded by many shrewd horsemen as the best of his age in England. His individuality had been highly praised, and, of course, American horsemen did not require any certification of the rare breeding of a colt by the peerless Colin, while his dam is one of the high-class mares of England. He is large enough and sufficiently well furnished for a well-developed three-year-old of massive build. He is all this without conveying even the suggestion of an overgrown colt. In many respects he bears a striking resemblance to his sire, and great things are expected of him.

DANGER ROCK MAY BE RACED HERE.

Sam Hildreth is a past master in the art of patching up a crippled horse so that he can race again. It is said that one reason why Mr. Belmont has brought his good four-year-old Danger Rock, by Rock Sand—Dehusion, back from England is to permit Hildreth to get him into condition for racing in this country by next fall, if not sooner. If Hildreth fails in the endeavor it can be set down that any other trainer would have failed also, and the colt will still be available for racing in England.

Danger Rock proved himself a good colt in England, though he was not raced much. As a two-year-old he started but three times, running unplaced in the New Stakes at Ascot and the Dewhurst Plate at Newmarket and finishing second to Let Fly in the Ebor Stakes at the Newmarket First July meeting. This year he made a distinct impression when at his first start he defeated Passport, Albark and eight more three-year-olds in the Hastings Plate of a mile and a quarter at the Newmarket First Spring meeting and covered the distance in 2:04½ with 115 pounds up. This he followed up by winning the most important Newmarket Stakes of $12,500 at the Newmarket Second Spring meeting. In this all carried 126 pounds and in winning he vanquished Let Fly, Tournament, White Surrev, Canute and Sydian. This had the effect of making him third choice for the New Derby, but he only ran fifth. He was at events for the Zetland Plate at Newmarket July 14, but in some way was all this without the off foreleg while the race was being run and was eased up. That was his last start.

CANADIAN EMBARGO ON HORSES REMOVED.

The removal of the embargo on horses leaving the Dominion will be some compensation for horsemen in Canada. Owners of horses have, however, been unfortunate in that the embargo became effective. Without any domestic trade for ordinary commercial purposes to speak of, they were not only barred from shipping animals across the line, but suffered all year from the uncertainties of a spasmodic trade with various army officials in this country. The Dominion government, from time to time, has given the imperial government permission from purchasing in Canada, and up until the late autumn French army commissioners were not allowed to operate.

During the year, according to a local official, the Canadian government bought throughout Canada 18,000 war horses. That is not many, in view of the fact that there were 3,000,000 on farms in Canada. Even allowing for stern exigencies of the war, there seems little reason why the market should have been so effectively limited. Time after time, when the movement of horses to the various exchanges became well organized, orders came to cease operations. In this way the trade was held up and loss was sustained by all parties on the selling side of the trade. Had the natural channels of trade remained open Canadian producers would have profited as did producers of other live stock.—Toronto Globe.

CARRANZA GOVERNMENT QUITE FRIENDLY.

That the political changes in Juarez have worked to the material advantage of the Jockey Club is hardly a new thing. The club has been able to obtain other forms of gambling brings more money into play, and the six books in the ring find it difficult to handle all the money offered on the various thoroughbreds in each race.

On last Friday Col. Matt J. Winn, the president of the Juarez Jockey Club and the general manager of the same organization, received a visit from a delegation of Mexicans now in control of Juarez. The delegation was headed by the mayor and the visit was a pleasant one. Assurances were given Col. Winn that the Carranza government recognized the concession of the Jockey Club Juarez for racing and that every effort would be made to give the racing organization by those in charge of affairs in Juarez.

Colonel Winn was delighted at the fairness of the Carranza officials, especially in view of the fact that stories had been circulated to the effect that as soon as Carranza assumed control that he would put a stop to racing. The only action taken by the Carranza officials against racing was the closing of the poolroom in Juarez operated by Col. W. E. Applegate, and this is not to be regretted, as it really works to the advantage of those in control of the betting ring at the track.

The Ontario Jockey Club displaced Piping Rock in the matter of daily distribution of money and returned to the proud place it had occupied before. Piping Rock held on nobly, however, and was a good second, Churchill Downs, Douglas Park, Latonia, Windsor and Saratoga following in order. The following table shows the daily average distribution of the various organizations and their averages in previous years:

HORSES BID UP IN THE RACING OF 1915.

In the racing of 1915 the number of selling races run in the United States, Canada and at Juarez and Havana was 3,984, of which the winners of 261 races were bid up for an aggregate of $117,075. In 1914 the comparative figures were 288 races and $111,085. In the way of a coincidence, the running of the Frank Fehr Stakes at the Churchill Downs spring meeting brought about the largest run-up of both 1914 and 1915. In 1914 Winning Witch was bid up $1,405 and in 1915 Goldcrest Boy was advanced $1,505 over his entered selling price. Other horses sharply bid up after winning were Montresor, $1,205, and Roly, $1,005, at Laurel; Bars and Stars, $1,305, and Star Jasmine, $1,005, at Latonia; Success, $1,500, at Saratoga; Old Ben, $1,305, at Churchill Downs; Bayberry Candle, Bonanza and Little Father, $1,005 each, at Douglas Park; Thornhill, $1,205, and Etruscan, $1,005, at the Belmont Park Empire City meeting; and Broom Flower, $1,205, at Lexington. Thirteen meetings passed at which there was not a single case of bidding up. The activities of certain men at the Laurel meeting made it the leader in number of cases of bidding up and aggregate of money involved. The greatest total of run-up money in 1914 was $17,910 at Charleston, while the Laurel total of 1915 was $20,165. The horses bid up in the course of the year, with the amounts and other particulars, are as follows:
